...you are to start with.

The magnitude of such problems had concerned the bank's auditors, who pointed out that tracking futures transactions threatened to become so complex that some trades might slip through the cracks.

Now they are much happier with record -keeping by computer, rather than pencil and paper.

While the system will not greatly benefit...

...to George Lawlor, a trading manager at Merrill.

Merrill already uses periodic reports from the Transaction Auditing Group (TAG) of Northport, New York, to monitor its trades .

But the firm does not think TAG reports will be enough to satisfy NASD Regulations...

...BEAMS as a threat. "There is room for both an internal system and an outside auditor ," he said, contending that TAG reports show information that an internal system cannot.

Shapiro said...however, it has begun receiving OATS data from all the major firms. OATS, or Order Audit Trail System data gives the regulator the time an order was received by a firm...
